Overview

The European Union was designed in order to bring stability and progress.

The implementation, however, created instability and poverty that not many analysts can or wish to explain.

Throughout the centuries, we faced similar patterns of unionism periods and the consequences were extremely painful for individuals, organizations, even countries, in the end.

This masterclass is designed in order to explain why monetary unions are created, why they last just for a short term and why when they collapse nobody wants to discuss the matter.

As a second goal, we investigate why national policies must be ready to stabilize the transition and how the stakeholders can adjust their interests and position.

Goals

1. Understand how and when Monetary Unions are created
2. Latin Monetary Union, the design and dissolution
3. Explain stability and instability within a country
4. Explain stability and instability within a Union
5. Separate design from implementation
6. Separate the interests of the different stakeholders
7. Red flags during normality and boom periods ; how we notice that stability creates instability ; incompetence and mismanagement vs fraud
8. Case study - Developing the strategies to diversify after you leave the madness

Specifications - Resources - Cases

This Masterclass is designed based on the Continuous Professional Development Cycle.

Examples from African models

The Masterclass design

This Masterclass is designed in order to present facts throughout the centuries, based on existing resources , in a one-day presentation.

In a second step, upon request, it can be redesigned (customized) in order to include specific cases, in detail, based on the special interests of the trade, audit and legal industry.

Milestones

I. Understand the national economy pattern vs the union policies

When a problem occurs, who could be the solution

II. Evaluate and diversify our choices

How we could evaluate faster that something is functional or not

III. Design the next step

How we could make a more sustainable model

About the trainer

Nicos Rafidhias (LinkedIn) was born in Nicosia, Cyprus.

Involved in stock market companies evaluation at the age of thirteen and continued in the real estate sector 9 years later. In recent years, he additionally analyzed several patterns of the FOREX and Crypto markets.

Analyzed and investigated several business cases both in Cyprus and Greece so he found a pattern of similarities on BOOM and BUST periods, both in organizations and countries.

Had extended investigation for EU funds mismanagement, explaining the rise and fall of Monetary Unions, the BREXIT phenomena in each previous case, the involvement of the audit organizations and their performance during the investigation.
